Project: Tales from Rat City

Tales from Rat City is a free podcast series made by a dedicated team of Ballarat researchers, writers and actors that celebrates our unique historic heritage. Tales focuses on lesser-known stories, bringing to life historic voices and stories from our early and post-Goldfields history. The project has combined academic rigour alongside community outreach and digital storytelling to uncover the seedier side of the history of Ballarat. A strong and loyal following for the website has been developed and stories are progressively added as further work is completed.
